

Observable Trends

1. The trials are very balance with near even values in distribution of drug regimen, as well as an even distribution of sex for treatments
2. The heavier mice have developed larger tumor volumes than those mice that initially weighed less.
3. Capomulin and Ramicane were much more effective treatments in comparison to other treatments